FIVE THINGS A POWER OF ATTORNEY CAN DO

5 Things a Power of Attorney Can Do for You

1. Give you Peace of Mind: Do you ever lay awake at night thinking who would pay your bills if you became seriously ill or incapacitated? A Power of Attorney of Property might be for you.
2. Keep Your Property Safe: If you are unable to care for and manage your property this document allows someone else of your choice to come in and help you to ensure your property is safe, secure, and paid for.

Substantial Change - True Ups

In re Marriage of D'Ambrogio

In re Marriage of D'Ambrogio, a

Judgment of Dissolution of Marriage, which incorporated a Marital Settlement Agreement (MSA), was entered in 2011. The MSA provided that the father of the two minor children of the relationship would pay child support in the amount of $2,100.00 per month, which was 28% of his net monthly base income. The father was also required to pay 28% of any additional income he received up to a total gross income amount of $350,000.00, after which any additional income received would not be subject to child support. Five years later, in 2016, the mother and father entered an agreed order which set child support at $3,300.00 per month and barred the mother from requesting a “true-up” or directly or indirectly petitioning the court to revisit child support unless the father’s income was in excess of $215,000.00 gross READ MORE
