Trust Amendments

Often in estate planning, clients come in with a full estate plan and they need to make minor changes to reflect family updates. They are worried that they will be on the hook for the price of a new estate plan. Often times, when only minor changes need to be made, I recommend an amendment to the trust.

A trust amendment is a formal document that specifies which portion of the trust should be revoked or removed, and then lays out new language which includes the requested change. (Read more)

Moving Back to In Person Court

Now that COVID restrictions have lifted a bit, the courthouse has reopened to in person court appearances. In person court can be daunting for clients. In the event you need to appear in person for any hearing, your Attorney at Gehris and Associates will prepare you for your specific appearance, and what you should expect. However, there are a few ground rules that everyone should know.

1. Dress to Impress, the courtroom is a formal setting, and your attire should match the formality of the occasion.
 2. Mind your manners, again the courtroom is a formal setting. It is helpful to(Read more)
